Stannington's wide Avenue features a range of exemplary period character homes on sprawling allotments with established gardens, impressive front hedges and an eclectic mix of architectural styles.

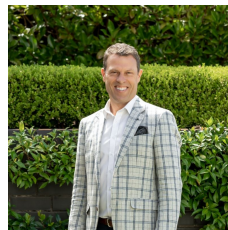

This grand family home is no exception. The green manicured hedge may be old as the home itself and provides a private and intriguing obstruction to what rests behind. Front gates open to the driveway and reveals the gorgeous red-brick home and its welcoming front verandah.

Original character features are abundant with the formal entry providing the first glimpse of what's inside. Timber wall panelling and floors, picture rails, decorative ceilings, fireplaces, original doors and windows.

The versatile floorplan includes a formal living and dining
