

41 Kennaway Street Tusmore SA

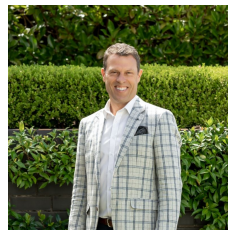

3 2 2

Distinctly unique and exceptionally preserved, this grand sandstone Tudor still holds many fantastic architectural features that are desperately waiting to be showcased in the intended way.

The floor plan is adaptable and workable, allowing different options to reconfigure, extend or renovate. While the home presents well as is, the home has abundant potential.

It is a stunning display of craftsmanship of a bygone era and attention to detail that the privileged first owners would have proudly displayed to their guests and family. The entry, formal living and dining rooms have central domed scalloped ceilings with intricate plaster mouldings. Solid Jarrah floors are rich and vibrant, and timber wainscoting on the walls in the entry and hall works in harmony with the sophisticated bevelled and leadlight windows throughout
